A Message from our President

Welcome. My name is Manuel Alonso, and I'm proud to be the President of Schiller International University. For more than fifty years, Schiller has offered students a unique opportunity to enrich their studies—and their lives—through a truly international educational experience.

Whether you have just completed high school or are seeking a graduate degree, your main concern when choosing an educational institution is to select a school and a program that opens doors to professional opportunity. At Schiller, we know that our global outlook and the immersive international experience we provide can open those doors. All over the world, our alumni are taking on key roles in society, policy, and business.

In today's globalized economy, candidates with first-hand knowledge of how leading countries do business and make policy can stand out in the international job marketplace. When you earn your degree from Schiller International University, you can become that candidate.

What does Schiller offer?

- ▷ In-demand undergraduate (Bachelor) and graduate (Master) degree programs in International Relations and Diplomacy, International Business, International Tourism and Hospitality, International Economics and Management;
- ▷ Alongside your Schiller diploma (USA recognized) you will obtain an United Kingdom accredited degree by the University of Roehampton (European accredited according to Bologna Accord)
- ▷ Preparation to become a registered nurse through our accelerated, 22-month Associate of Nursing Program in Largo (Tampa), Florida—take just one class per month;
- ▷ Professors who combine advanced academic credentials with significant industry experience in their fields of expertise;
- ▷ The unique ability to move from one international campus to another without changing university or programs;

- ▷ Immersive cultural experiences at centrally-located campuses in Tampa, Florida; Heidelberg, Germany; Paris, France; Madrid, Spain and London, UK
- ▷ Classes taught in English at all campuses, with intensive foreign-language study available in German, French, or Spanish;
- ▷ Convenient online study options—pursue your degree entirely online, or combine campus courses with online classes to fit your needs;
- ▷ Accelerated course schedules with programs beginning every month, so you can start earning your degree when you are ready and graduate faster.

When you study with us, you become part of our world-wide learning community. The students and professors you will meet at our campuses will challenge and inspire you, becoming your friends, mentors, and professional contacts.

I invite you to find out more about us through our website. Explore our programs, our philosophy, and our community, or contact our admissions department to find out about application requirements, financial aid, scholarships, and military student benefits.

Thank you for considering Schiller International University as your educational partner. Helping you plan your future—and achieve your goals—is our reward.

Sincerely,
 Manuel Alonso Ph.D.

My journey from a native small town in Romania to becoming an international affairs scholar and Human Rights activist was lengthy and challenging. I commenced the voyage during my studies at Schiller International University, where, under the influence of my professors, I discovered my calling for International Relations and Diplomacy.

SIU really shaped my character and was the university where I have discovered my passion. While I studied International Economics as a major, a Schiller professor recognized my true potential and redirected me to focus on diplomacy and international affairs. My long-lasting passion for politics and international affairs reached its height in 2010 with the publication of my first book: Romania 1988-2008. 20 Anni di transizione alla democrazia.

I began my career working as a consultant in the Economic department of the Rome City Council in Italy. Later on, I took a position at the Romanian Embassy in Washington DC, where I got accustomed with the projects of the Organization of American States and embarked in a lifelong love affair with Latin America, which influenced my major fiction writings.

For years, I occupied different corporate positions in the PR and marketing departments of energy companies. Leaving behind my stable Public Relations Executive position, I pursued avidly a career in fashion journalism.

Today, my work appeared in the most important lifestyle publications (e.g.: L'Officiel, Cosmopolitan, Grazia, Fashion TV).

With 7 books, published in 3 languages, and numerous articles and reviews, I am living the life of a modern storyteller, while remaining faithful to my own values and my quest for authenticity.

The City

Heidelberg is the centerpiece of Germany's academic landscape as it is home to the country's oldest university and library. It is also recognized as a hub for the latest high-tech industry and scientific research in Europe and the world.

Overlooked by its famous castle ruins on the hill above the Old Town, this picturesque university town combines old-world charm and a youthful, vibrant atmosphere. In addition, Heidelberg is located strategically between bustling major German centers of finance and manufacturing: Frankfurt, Mannheim, and Stuttgart.

Major international corporations are headquartered close to Heidelberg, such as SAP SE, BASF, Daimler Benz, Porsche and many others providing a potential platform for students to access internships and for graduates to penetrate the local job market which is constantly seeking internationally educated and multicultural candidates.

The Campus

The Heidelberg campus is located in the newly built SKYLABS complex, a series of concept buildings featuring the latest technical, architectural advancements and a high degree of energy efficiency symbolizing a combination of science and industry.

The SKYLABS building is located conveniently accessible to the national train (Deutsche Bahn) a mere 3 minutes walking distance from Heidelberg Hauptbahnhof (Main Station) and 5 minutes by tram to the city center (Bismarckplatz), and local public transportation.

Schiller International University is not a state or state-recognized institution in Germany. Schiller International University offers its US accredited and University of Roehampton recognized degrees in Germany as per §72 Section 3 Landeshochschulgesetz of the State of Baden Württemberg.

The time in Schiller was my first touch with the world. Students from all over the world, all with a different way of thinking and understanding, different languages in all corners of the campus, the art of teaching, which allows to look at different subjects from a global perspective and the most important, the friendships and relations you develop with people from all over the world, are just a few experiences a student finds at Schiller. You basically learn what the word "global" means, what happens in the world, why it happened and have the chance to discuss everything with your co-students. For me these experiences opened me the door towards a career on international scene. I am able to understand different cultures and mentalities, which in my job are essential for success.

After my graduation at the Schiller campus in Heidelberg, I returned to Madrid, in which I had spent one semester at the Schiller campus in Madrid. I still believe that it was during my Schiller time in Madrid, when I felt in love with the Spanish capital.

The time in Madrid opened me the chance to join the Spanish Professional Football League, as head of international affairs. Thanks to the experiences in Schiller, I reached to represent an association, whose members are some of the biggest football clubs in the world, such as Real Madrid, FC Barcelona, Atletico Madrid and many more. I have grown as professional at the Spanish league during the golden years of Spanish Football from 2008 until 2014, when I decided to move to Romania, to be in charge of my first executive position in the world of football, as vice president of the Romanian football league at the age of 31.

I am a citizen of a world without borders, full of opportunities and challenges to grow, and this thanks to the knowledge and understanding I could cultivate during the time at the campuses of Schiller.

Madrid is made up of many cities: the cultural, with its museums, concert halls and theaters; the traditional, with its popular festivities, and neighborhoods; the gastronomical with its typical restaurants; the historical, with its monuments, churches and palaces; and the modern, with its multinational enterprises, banks, hotels, shops and international convention centers. Madrid, the vibrant capital of the Spanish-speaking world, is historic, monumental and contemporary at the same time, overflowing with cutting edge design and cuisine. It is a vibrant metropolis that immediately adopts you, making you feel like you belong there. In Madrid you can find large avenues and elegant boulevards alongside narrow cobblestone streets; tall and modern buildings next to old churches and plazas. Madrid is a city to discover: you can stop and enjoy its lively cafes at almost every corner, and its legendary nightlife. Madrid is bustling with life day and night - a city that never sleeps.

The Campus

Schiller's Madrid campus building, a beautiful neoclassical building that was formerly the residence of a member of the Spanish royal family, is situated on Serrano Street - considered one of the most elegant areas of Madrid - on the Plaza de la República Argentina. The campus is surrounded by restaurants, embassies, international schools and cultural centers. In the neighborhood, you'll also find everything from boutiques to the Santiago Bernabeu Stadium (home of the Real Madrid soccer team).

When I think of my time at SIU, 3 things come to my mind.

Diversity; learning to evolve in an international environment with students from over 90 countries in 2 campuses (Paris and London), active leadership with great business acumen; Mix of experienced students and diverse teachers gave me trust to engage with people without fear for barriers. And last, but not least social responsibility; the hunger to learn was further cultivated beyond the courses needed and help me shape my aspiration and determination as a world contributor.

These 3 attributes still help me today when dealing with business partners, engaging with stakeholders and acting in a complex environment to help connect the world to improve lives.

The City

As the capital of France, Paris is one of the great thriving European and world powers. As an economic and commercial center, Paris has the sixth largest world economy and is also the fifth most popular city in Europe. Although the Paris economy is largely dominated by business services, it still remains an important manufacturing powerhouse of Europe, especially in industrial sectors such as automobiles, aeronautics, and electronics.

Several international organizations have their headquarters in Paris. They include UNESCO, the OECD, the International Chamber of Commerce, and the Financial Action Task Force (FATF). A destination visited annually by some 26 million tourists, the city offers over 150 museums including the Louvre, and exceptional sites, such as the Champs-Élysées and the Eiffel Tower.

The Campus

The Paris campus of SIU is centrally located in one of the liveliest areas of the city close to Montparnasse and the student district known as "Quartier Latin." As an independent, international and American University in Paris, SIU offers students a multicultural environment with faculty that encourages diversity, leadership and global understanding. Studying in Paris is a great opportunity for SIU students to be immersed in one of the most important political, diplomatic, economic and cultural capitals in the world.

SIU Paris campus is centrally located, within walking distance from the Eiffel Tower, the beautiful Jardins du Luxembourg and the lively districts of Montparnasse and la Motte Picquet Grenelle.

14 years ago my mother accompanied me on my orientation at Schiller: a 16 year old anxious and excited young woman ready to become an adult, ready to learn and ready to stack the building blocks of my future, ready for university. Schiller suited me well especially with a diverse upbringing and family members of different nationalities; there I was surrounded by strangers who would add to my curiosity, knowledge and experiences leaving me with great lasting memories.

At Schiller although I was given the freedom to make decisions about my studies and career, I still feel the constant support and advise from my tutors, counselors, and is to this day some of the best and most formative guidance I have ever received.

After studying for a BA in International Economics, I unexpectedly ended up with a career in journalism. After working as a newspaper editor, I began consulting for print publishers and I have worked on communications and press strategies for government institutions. Alongside my media experience, I also started a culinary business with a pizzeria in Abuja, the capital city of Nigeria, a catering business and my recipes are published in magazines and newspapers. Another unexpected experience is fusing media and food by creating a food tv show while I was also an anchor on a live breakfast tv show in Nigeria. Most recently I have become Mrs. Shaylor and like on my first day at Schiller university I feel like the world is my oyster.

SIU's main Campus is located in Largo, Florida, in the Greater Tampa Bay Region with a population of approximately 4 million. The campus fronts Ulmerton Road, which serves as a primary artery connecting Tampa Bay and the Gulf of Mexico. It is a short drive to one of the most beautiful coastal regions in America. Famous for its mild semi-tropical climate, the area has a thriving hotel and tourism industry. Both Tampa and St. Petersburg are growing centers of high-tech industry, and Tampa, a major American port, is home to the enterprises of finance, pharmaceuticals, and film-making. Museums of art and culture, state parks with unique nature preserves, and the unparalleled fishing, sailing and swimming on Florida's Gulf Coast have drawn a cosmopolitan mixture of inhabitants to the area from all over the United States and the world. Major league baseball and professional football are centered in the area.

The Campus

The facility is a two story campus with approximately 30,000 square feet. Technology has been installed in many of the spacious classrooms and computer labs, including Smart-board functionality. The campus houses a library, two student lounges, a student break area, a bookstore, and various spacious administrative and faculty offices. This campus is accessible to all major highways and public transportation. Two parking lots provide ample space for vehicles. Further neighboring facilities include public swimming pools, tennis courts, and shopping centers. Tampa International Airport is approximately 20 minutes east of the campus and a bus system links the area's population centers.

The Campus

The London campus of SIU is located in the University of Roehampton Campus in one of the most exclusive areas of London, close to Richmond and Wimbledon Stadium. Teaching facilities, high-quality accommodation and social hubs sit comfortably within 54 acres of parkland, lakes and woodland, only 30 minutes from the West End. The campus contains a mixture of architectural styles ranging from 18th-century to brand new modern structures.

Programs of Study

The London campus will offer courses from programs approved by the Accrediting Council for Independent Colleges and Schools (ACICS). The language of instruction is English. The London site also offers the possibility for students to study one or several terms once they have started their studies in another location within the Schiller International University group of schools. The London site offers courses from the following awards: BSc in International Business; MBA Business Administration and MBA International Business. Students will be limited in terms of what portion of their programs they may complete at the London site. Bachelor students may be in London for no more than three terms (12 months). MBA students may be in London for no more than a term (4 months). Accordingly, Bachelor Degree students studying at the London site may not take more than 12 courses in London, and MBA students studying in London may not take more than 4 courses in London.

Double Degree Benefit for Students as Schiller enhances Worldwide Employment Opportunities

An innovative new pan-Atlantic academic agreement will mean students registered with Schiller International University in the USA will also study towards a second, separate degree authorized by the University of Roehampton in London. Schiller International University (SIU) and the University of Roehampton (UoR) in London have signed an agreement where students will study for a degree awarded by Roehampton alongside their Schiller degree and receive two separate qualifications. A student from anywhere in the world studying at Schiller will earn an accredited US degree and a British degree valid in 45 countries under the Bologna process. This is a truly innovative arrangement, which will benefit Schiller's student body by providing them with a global profile. Regardless of the campus of choice: Madrid, Paris, Heidelberg, London or Florida, Schiller students will also be enrolled in the University of Roehampton. With a heritage which stretches back 170 years, the University of Roehampton, offers degrees in a wide range of disciplines including business and economics. Set in a scenic, traditional campus overlooking the Royal Richmond Park, Roehampton has a reputation for an excellent student experience, high levels of student employability and cutting edge research-led teaching. The agreement between Schiller International University and Roehampton goes beyond a student receiving credits during an Erasmus exchange or a study abroad at another university. Over a four year period, (one year for postgraduate programs) undergraduate students will achieve two degrees, one from Schiller International University, and one from The University of Roehampton delivered by Schiller.

Students' courses will include a number of degrees, in addition to a number that are specific to either their Schiller, or their Roehampton qualification, including a Dissertation or Thesis. All teaching and the Dissertation or Thesis will be carried out by Schiller's academics. Through this collaboration students at Schiller receive an education that crosses borders and increases their opportunities academically and professionally by giving them access to both American and European markets. In the current job market this will enable graduates to meet the demand for a workforce that is capable of adapting and growing.

Diversity

This unique feature gives our students the possibility to further their educational and professional goals in two major economic regions – USA and Europe.

Each of our campuses has been strategically placed in urban settings that offer students the richness of multicultural diversity. We know that giving our students the possibility of studying among students of diverse cultures enriches their learning experience and promotes their personal growth.

Our Degrees – US and UK*

My education in Schiller has given me the opportunity and possibility to work and develop a successful career in IBM Spain. Throughout my career I've held different EMEA jobs (European roles), requiring daily interaction with managers and partners worldwide. Having studied at Schiller International University, in both Paris and Heidelberg campuses, has helped me expand my employment opportunities, and also has provided me good communication skills and a strong confidence in myself when it comes to interact with others in a foreign language, and when dealing with people from different cultures and with different points of view. Due to this international experience abroad, living fully immersed in another culture, I've become a more open-minded person, resolute, and more respectful of other cultures, that in some way has influenced, both professionally and personally, in the way I now perceive the world and society we live in. Schiller University has also provided me with a great diversity of friends from ALL OVER THE WORLD. I definitely recommend such experience to everyone that has the opportunity to live it!
